FOREWORD

Our Centennial calls to mind many memories, some long forgotten as well as those which remain fresh and vivid after so many years.

During the early eighteen hundreds, pioneers from the East were settling in the prairies between the Appalachian Mountains and the Mississippi River. Farming was the main industry in the beginning but not for long. Other industries and educational advantages followed as settlers continued coming. As a result of these migrations Irving came to be.

Our many thanks to all those who in the past have contributed so much to the welfare of our village and to those who will carry on to insure its future as an enterprising community.

This is not a complete record but it is offered with a hope that many events and people long thought forgotten can be relived in memory.

OUR TOWN'S CENTENNIAL

One hundred years ago this fall,
Men met to incorporate a village for all;
Irving was just a settlement,
No laws or anything permanent.

Then no stock could roam the street,
Boardwalks were made for less muddy feet.
Lots of changes were made,
Trees were planted around for shade.

Trees were planted for a park,
Ice cream picnics held there after dark;
It was surrounded by a hitching rack,
From which many a child fell on his back.

The settlers in 1857 made a gain,
They got the railroad and a train;
Then to up their popularity and rank,
They got more stores, a post office and a bank.

They got a barber shop, a millinery store,
A lumber yard and lots more;
Five well attended churches they had
For happy occasions and also sad.

They of course had schools,
Carpenters made furniture with crude tools;
Now lots of things have come to pass,
Such as electricity, city water, and natural gas.

Selma Kelly Eddington

Irving is a grand old place to live in,
To lend, to spend or to give in;
But to borrow or to beg or to hold your own,
There never was a place worse known.

Written many years ago by Harvey Kelly.

EARLY HISTORY OF IRVING

Irving actually began in the early part of the nineteenth century. After Illinois was admitted into the Union in 1818 more settlers began moving into its fertile prairies in greater numbers. The pioneers came from the Carolinas, Tennessee and Kentucky and traveled by covered-wagons and on horseback.

The first pioneer to settle in this vicinity was John Lawrence Franklin in 1826. Others soon followed. John Lipe settled in the northern part of the township in 1828. James Kelly settled where the Irving Cemetery is now located, the graves are where their cabin first stood. They were the parents of ten children. Ezra Bostick, a revolutionary soldier settled nearby and the following year, he was joined by Mark and James Rutledge and Joel Knight, all from Kentucky.

During the early 1830s other settlers included Andrew King and son, John Wesley with Noah Kelly, James Madison Berry, Rev. John Grant ham with a family of thirteen children, John and William Wiley, the Carrikers, Hefleys, and Bosts. In a few years, the Gregory, Neisler, Lewey, Roberts, Lyerla, Christian, Morain, McDavid, Mann, Satterlee, Hightower, and Berry Families followed.

In 1844 Jacob Bohn's father came from North Carolina in a one horse wagon with a family of eight. Mrs. Bohn died on the way and was buried in Tennessee.

A Mr. Irving opened a little store in 1844 and was honored by having the village named for him. Another store was built in 1847 by Edwards and Petra.

In 1854, Madison Berry sold land to Mr. Higgins and Mr. Rider of Alton. They made the railroad survey and the road was graded, the village was platted and the town laid out. R.W. Davis and Madison Berry bought out the promoters and began at once to make improvements. Mr. Berry donated the ground for the park, to be used for recreation.

T.G. Black and W.S. Berry erected a store house on the east side of the railroad tracks facing the railroad. In fact, all the early stores on either side of the railroad were built to face the tracks. Land at that time was planted in corn and was fenced with rails, so in going to the stores, the fence had to be laid down to get there.

A brick store was built by H.J. Huestis in 1856 and W.J. McClure built the Irving Hotel. A passenger train stopped each morning while passengers and train crew were served breakfast at this hotel. At this time, W. W. Wiley was railroad agent and post master. He and Mr. Black built a large store house and in 1859 they built the first two brick buildings in the village.

In 1855 a steam flour mill was erected by Kelly and Wiley. A second mill was built by Hanners and Williams in 1868. H.M. Kelly also operated a mill which he bought and moved into the village, and Ezekiel Grantham operated a mill at one time.

In 1870 and 1871 two large elevators were built along the railroad to handle grain in bulk.

A Mr. Sanford built the first blacksmith shop and other blacksmiths included D.H. Luther, A.M. Edwards, J. Scherer and Mr. Bell.

Among others who contributed to the progress of the village and township were Isaac Lewey, C.B. Cromer, John McDavid, Milton Berry, Charles McKinney, Dr. R. Parkhill, John Wiley, Sam Wiley, Noah Taylor, Jacob Lewey, George File, Marvin Thumb, Marshall Winn, Henry Latham, Samuel Bartlett, James Morain and many others. The descendants of many of these earlier settlers still reside in Irving.

Before much longer, the village had a clothing store, hardware stores, millinery shops, restaurants, bank, weekly newspaper, livery stables, and harness shops.

EARLY HISTORY OF IRVING

The early settlers lived humble, economical and industrial lives. They gathered together at parties, corn huskings, log rollings, apple parings, carpet rag tackings, spelling bees and singing schools and according to old tales, now and then some skulduggery was promoted-- by the pranksters.

Many changes occurred during the early and middle 1900s. the main street stores were changed to face the present highway, new buildings replaced the old ones destroyed by fire, a new railroad was built giving a double track to St.Louis, later garages and service stations--replaced the blacksmith shops, truck service replaced freight by train automobiles made passenger service by train unprofitable, livery stables discontinued to operate and the double railroad track was reduced to one track. The present freight trains are all through trains and contract only distant hauling. There is no passenger service and the depot has been razed.

Various other businesses have come and gone. In fact changes is surely a permanent thing. Irving, having no major industries to perpetuate its growth, instead of becoming an industrial area, it has to some extent become more or less a residential village of which we, its citizens are justly proud.

CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST
OF LATTER-DAY SAINTS

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Helfer moved from Hillsboro to the Irving community in 1952. Being members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints and since there was no organization of that church in Irving, Mrs. Helfer-held classes for the children in the home.

In March, 56 the Helfers bought-- the two story house located on the west side of the tracks owned by Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Everley. They moved- into this house and on July 15 of the same year Mrs. Helfer organized the "Home Sunday School" with the approval of the church authorities in Springfield with which the Irving area was associated. Lillian Hutchins, an eight year old neighbor was the only person present except for the Helfer family. A total of eight persons were in attendance the first Sunday. As time went on the attendance increased.

In separating for classes they assembled around the kitchen table- and due to lack of teachers, Mrs. Helfer taught two classes of thirty minutes each.

Visiting Elders from western states who were serving two year missions without pay came now and then to assist with the services. In 1957 Elders Larry Mortensen and Garry Christians were placed in Irving by the president of Northern States Mission with headquarters in Chicago and they labored for six weeks in this community.

Mrs. Helfer*s daughter, Darlene left early in 1957 when she and her husband moved to Ogden, Utah and Mrs. Helfer was left with no help. It became necessary for some of the children to come early for classes. Later exercises were held after which they assembled for a closing song and prayer. Much time and money was spent to prepare for projects which must be used as a substitute for a teacher.

In the early part of 1962 the Helfer family bought a home on the same street, leaving the old house to be used entirely for church purposes.

Since August of 1962 seven missionaries have been sent to labor- in the Irving vicinity. Elder Bruce Ehlert and Elder David Pentelute organized a basketball team, youth club, the Mutual Improvement Ass--ociation and the primary association.

The past few years, Irving has been changed from the Springfield branch to the Centralia branch of the church. In Apr., 1963 the Irving church was formed into a dependant branch with a membership of sixty.

At the present time, the primary has an enrollment of twenty-nine children, there are five officers and thirty-four active members.

Members are looking forward to some day replacing the old house- with a new church.

Remember when Irving had three doctors at the same time?

The Irving Christian Church was organized in 1853 with eighteen charter members. The congregation held meetings in the school house when it was available and in groves in the summer, and at times they were held in the homes of members.

Some of the earlier ministers were Taulbee, Lynn, and Ward and they preached whenever a place could be found. In 1876 Rev. R.B. Gilbert reorganized the congregation with twenty-one members.

In 1878 a chapel was built, the lot being donated by Catherine Berry, mother of Milton Berry, that lot being the present site of the church. The services continued until 1885, when by death and removal of families to other places, services were discontinued.

In 1893, W. H. Boles from Eureka held a six weeks' meeting and reorganized the church with eighty-three members. Some of the families who came into the church at that time were W.C. Vandever, W.N. Taylor, Milton Berry, R. J. Cockelreas, Charles Cook, W.P. Mason, Joseph Mason, John Senior, W.T. Ault, C. A. Grantham, J. Vanhoosier and others.

To accomodate a larger membership, a new church was built and dedicated on June 13, 1920. The dedicatory services were conducted by H.H. Peters of Bloomington. Mrs. Maria Senior (80 years), grandmother of Mrs. Anna Canaday was the only charter member present.

The building committee included C.A. Grantham, Milton Berry, Frank Turnbull, W. A. Vandever, and E. A. Lyerla.

One of the ministers who served the church the longest was Rev. M. L. Easterling who now lives in Decatur although he and his wife maintain their home here.

W. A. Vandever who left Irving when a young man, had always kept his membership in the Irving Christian Church and was an ardent supporter as were his brothers and sisters.

The church celebrated its centennial at an all day service on Sunday, September 13, 1953, the pastor, Rev. M.L. Easterling preaching the sermon at the morning service and Mrs. Anna Canaday read the history of the church.

The Rev. Paul Rhodes is the present pastor; trustees are Jacob Stokes, Howard Davis, Fred Lyerla; Elders are Ross McPherson, Jacob Stokes, Howard Davis, and Fred Lyerla (Emeritus), and Sunday School Superintendent is Ross McPherson.

The Irving Free Methodist church was organized in December, 1880 in the carpenter shop of Isaiah Grantham. Rev. William B. Colt was chairman and did the organizing. Members placed on first class roll were Washburn Smith (local preacher), Theodore Hefley (class leader), Ida King, Isabelle Vandever, Sally Satterlee, Ambrose Smith, Leonard King, Lou Hefley, and Samuel King.

First services were held in homes for about a year and the next winter, Rev. Colt and Rev. Robert Sanderson held a meeting in the carpenter shop. Rev. Thomas Marsh came the next fall as the first pastor and held a meeting in the Christian church. At this time Irving with Ohlman and Robert's chapel formed a circuit.

In the fall of 1881 a church was partly built and the congregation worshipped all winter without it being plastered. The building was completed the following summer and dedicated by Rev. James Marsh. Trustees were Silas Kelly, William H. Edwards, C.H. Tiffin, John Bartlett, and William H. Nickey.

The Irving and Hillsboro Free Methodist churches were made a circuit in 1890 and remained as such until 1932.

By 1926 the membership was so small that the District Elder, Rev. J. D. Williams advised closing the doors of the church and taking the membership to Hillsboro. Rev. Clara Roberts (now Mrs. J.G. Yeck) heard of this and offered to hold a meeting with no remuneration. In May a tent meeting was held in the park. Rev. Roberts preached and the church revived and took on new life.

Aug. 22, 1932, the Irving society requested the annual conference to divide the Hillsboro-Irving circuit and the request was granted. Rev. Clara Roberts served as pastor and continued until 1934 when the church was served by student pastors part of the time.

The Masonic Hall which was originally the Cumberland Presbyterian church was bought by the Free Methodist church on Sept. 22, 1940, and in 1942 the Truitt property adjoining the church was purchased for a parsonage.

A building fund was started in 1956 and the following year a committee met with the District Superintendent, Rev. B.F. Hibbett to make plans for building a new church. By 1961 sufficient funds had been raised and subscribed. Under the pastorate of Rev. Claude Griffith, construction was begun and by July 10 the cornerstone was laid.

Sunday afternoon, May 20, 1962, the dedication service was held with Bishop Marston bringing the message. Lewis Mose, president of the board of trustees presented the building for dedication.

The present pastor of the Free Methodist church is Rev. David Dyer; bd. of trustees are Lewis Mose, Ray White, Frank Carriker, James Cranfill and Eustace Payme; stewards are Ruth Haley, Daisy Payne and Dorothy Meisenheimer; Sunday school superintendent, James Cranfill; and class leader, Declecia White.

Many dates and facts concerning the early Methodist church history have faded from the memory of the old inhabitants. Services were held in groves, homes and barns for all denominations and the first church was the Hopewell Methodist church which was organized by the Reverends Benson and Bastion, itinerant preachers in 1829. John Grantham, Sr. was the first local preacher. The first edifice erected in 1830 where they worshipped until 1849, when they built and moved to a new bldg., one and a half miles north of Irving. In 1855 this building was moved to the town on the site of the present Methodist church. In 1858 it was moved away and a new church was built, being dedicated in 1859.

The Epworth League was organized 1890, the Junior Epworth League in 1894, cradle roll in 1902 and Missionary society in 1905. In 1910, at an Epworth League meeting, it was decided to build a new church and Lizzie Grantham gave the first five dollars toward the building fund. The old church was torn down and the present church was built. A very inspiring dedication service was held, Feb. 26, 1911, by the District Supt., B.F. Shipp, D.D. and the church Pastor, Rev. E.O. Clark. Funds were raised to clear all indebtedness.

In 1917 the Live Wire class of the Sunday School was organized and is still active. The Helping Hand class was organized in 1921 and was active until one by one each member passed away. The Hy Shy Ny class was organized in 1928 and is still very active.

In 29 the church celebrated its Centennial with all day services. The Pastor was Rev. J. W. Williams and Rev. A. M. Wells delivered the morning sermon. This organization was called the Methodist Episcopal church until 39 when the Methodist Episcopal church, Methodist church South and Protestant churches were united into one Methodist church. The Women's society of Christian service was organized in September 8, 1940, taking the place of the Ladies Aid which had been in existence since 1899.

There have been many improvements through the years. In 1870 the first organ was placed in the church, in 1899 a new organ was purchased, in 1921 the Live Wire Class bought the first piano, in 1958 a Hammond electric organ was purchased and later a new piano. In 1962 much work was accomplished with more planned for 1963.

Many ministers have served the church and two have died while serving, the Rev. E. E. Shult in 1931 and Rev. Lester Earp in 1961. The membership is now 144 and many others attend services and help in the work.

The Rev. David Lofdahl is the present pastor, Lynn Eddington is president of the official board and Mrs. Walter Sturgeon is Sunday School Superintendent.

FORMER PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The Irving Cumberland Presbyterian church was organized in 1830-- under the leadership of Joel Knight. In 1866 the congregation built a brick church on the site of the present Free Methodist Church. The Rev. W. J. McDavid was instrumental in building up the congregation and in 1903 a new church was planned.

The building committee included John T. McDavid, Sr., John E.- Knight, H. M. Kelly, Abner Moore, Dr. W.V. Parkhill, A.K. Vandever and C. B. McKinney. While the building was being erected, church services were held in the Kelly and Winn Hall. The church was built one block southeast of the Lutheran church on Pine St., the cost of the building and contents being $6300, all of which was paid before the dedication, January 1, 1905. The church seated four hundred people and was lighted with a gasoline lighting system.

The first minister was Rev. D.W. Cheek and among ministers following were W.J.McDavid, W.K.Gibson, J.M.Newman, A.J.Taylor, W.L. McWhert- er and J. C. Lowe.

Shortly after the new church was dedicated, the name Cumberland- was dropped and it became the Presbyterian church.

Later, the house now owned and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Glenn E. Wells was built for the Presbyterian Manse.

The church burned in 1923 and the congregation decided against re- building but to join or affiliate with other Irving churches.

Remember when the apple drying house stood two blocks east of the Methodist church and was built and burned three times?

Remember when Irving had two local trains each day?

Congratulations! The first hundred years are the hardest

We extend our best wishes on the occasion of Irving's Centennial Anniversary. We hope the adage, "The first one hundred years are the hardest" holds true and that the best of everything is yet to come to the Village of Irving.

There had been a flourishing Lutheran congregation as far back as 1842 when Daniel Trimper, a Lutheran minister established a church known as St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church. It was located north west of Irving.

In 1858 a number of people of Lutheran faith decided to organize and a church was built in the village. The constitution was signed August 21, 1858, by Isaac Short, Pastor William A. Newcomb, George File and W.M. Neisler. There were twelve charter members and in a short-time the membership increased to forty-five.

March 29, 1863 the second pastor, Rev. John B. Cromer, an ordained minister from Indiana became the pastor of the church.

Many pastors served the Irving Lutheran church during the next forty-five years and the congregation continued to grow.

December 26, 1908 a congregational meeting was held at the church and a decision was made to erect a new church on the same site. A building committee was appointed and were Rev. E.E. Campbell, Julius Carr-iker, William H. File, and James Drew.

The new church was completed in 1909 at a cost of $7600.00. It was dedicated February 20, 1910, with Dr. Yarger, Field Secretary of the General Synod as speaker.

In 1912 the first church parsonage was sold to Mrs. H. Price and the following year the present parsonage was built at a cost of $3200. At the time the parsonage was built Rev. George Parker was pastor.

The eightieth anniversary of the Irving Evangelical Lutheran church was celebrated September 11, 1938, during the pastorate of Rev. Arthur E. Schmidt.

The one hundredth anniversary of the church was celebrated September 21, 1958, during the pastorate of the Rev. Jens Larson.

The Irving Lutheran church has at different times been connected with other Lutheran charges in the surrounding area, the same pastor serving both congregations.

The Rev. Jens Larsen of Hillsboro who retired from the ministry several years ago is now acting as supply pastor for the Irving congregation.

MAIN STREET BUILDINGS

The building at the left was built by W.E. Morain and used for a real estate and insurance office until he moved to Hillsboro. Clinton Cockerleas operated the "Town Tavern" there until his death, and for a short time it was operated by John Dal Canton. The building was sold to W.V. Berry who used it as an insurance office and supervisor's office until he retired, also used for village and township boards meeting and polling place for precinct one.

Next is the Barber Shop operated by Everett Spindel who bought it in 1960. It was built by E. P. Carriker who with several of his sons operated it many years. Several years, Charlotte Morehead's Beauty--- was in the rear. Several others operated barber shops after Mr.--- Carriker retired and his son, Charlie moved to California.

Kelly Mercantile Company has been operated by Foster and Edna Kelly in the next building (Owned by W. V. Berry) since January, 1952, after burning out in the corner building, September, 1951. Mr. Kelly started in business with his father, R. L. Kelly in November 1916 in the old Kelly Brothers' location, now a vacant lot west of Montgomery County Vault Service. He bought the Donovan Drug Store and building in 1929 and in 1931 the two stocks were combined in the drug store building. R.L. Kelly retired in 1936 and in 1938 the grocery stock was sold to L.R. Hammond. Mr. Kelly bought the remaining stock of Fowler Hdwre. Company, combining it with Kelly Mercantile Company. In November, 1963 Mr. Kelly will have completed forty-seven years of store management in Irving and his slogan now is: "Planning to hang on until I'm 65."

Rice's Cafe was remodeled in 1956 by the Wesley Edwards family. Two buildings which were combined formerly housed several shoe repair shops and grocery stores. The Edwards family operated the cafe three years and the Forrest Snow family for one year before the business was bought by Mr. and Mrs. Rice in 1961 and is still operated by them.

On record in the National Archives, a post office was established at Irving on July 9, 1856 at which time William Wiley was postmaster and occupied a building near the present site of the fire house.

In 1861, Hiram Huestis followed by James Berry in 1873 occupied buildings in the same area. John Knight moved into the brick building west of the old hotel in 1878 and remained until John Cottle became postmaster in 1881, followed by Rachel Cottle in 1884. At that time the post office was moved to a frame building between the corner and hotel building.

Then in 1885 the post office was moved over on the site of the present highway, Route 16 by George Rarer, postmaster. Again, Rachel Cottle became post master in 1889, serving until William Williams was appointed in 1893 and moved to the present American Legion Hall site.

Abner Moore took office in 1898 and moved to the location which is now Rica's Cafe. He was followed by Wm. Berry who took office in 1900 and served in quarters joining the present post office building.

In 1915 Walter Berry became postmaster and served in the building that is now Kelly Mercantile Store.

William A. Cook became postmaster in 1935, when he purchased and moved to what is now known as the old post office building. He served until his death in 1952.

This vacancy was filled by Charley Funk until the appointment of George Bryce in 1955. The post office building at this time was owned by Arline Cook, widow of William A. Cook and leased to the Post Office Department.

In 1960, under a commercial leasing plan, Harold Jurgena erected a new building to meet specifications set up by the Department. The building is at the site of the former Kelly Mercantile Store which burned several years ago. On October 22, 1960, the new building with nearly twelve hundred feet floor space was dedicated and occupied by the post office, the first time in the history of Irving that the post office had located in a building erected especially for this purpose.

Knowing well the hardships of mud roads, horses, Model T Fords and long hours is Walter Neisler, now retired after forty-three years of service. Another retired carrier still living in this community is Walter Satterlee who recalls leading the horses with sacks of mail around the route, due to muddy roads.

Other rural mail carriers of the earlier days are names to be recalled such as William H. Haller, Roy Lippe and Willis Tester, all deceased.

The present carrier serving the Irving community, Ross D. Perkins has also experienced the horse and wagon days but modern conveniences and good roads make the job easier and he now serves sixty-two miles in the Irving community.

On the first floor of the two story building at the left is a grocery and meat market owned and operated by Ivan and Robert Caulk, who have been in business since 1946. The upper story belongs to the Masonic Lodge.

The building was built by F. P. Cockelreas who used the first floor for his general store and rented the hall above. Later, L.R. Hammond operated a grocery and meat market until 1945 and William Lorts also operated the store for a short time.

The second two story building is owned by Ivan and Robert Caulk who installed a coin laundry in April, 1963. There are ten (12 pound) G. E. Washers and four dryers. Most people will remember the location as the Botkin Restaurant, although others who had restaurants in this location included William Meyers, Valle Funk, C.L. Funk, Robert Funk and others.

CAULK BROTHER TRUCKING SERVICE

Kenneth Caulk is pictured standing by one of the trucks owned and operated by him and his brother Lamar Caulk. The building was the former Kelly packing house and was purchased by the brothers in 1958. They have been in the trucking business since 1941 and for a time another brother, Lynn Caulk was associated with them. Other buildings ---- where the Caulks operated were the service station on the Douglas used car lot and the former Chal Groner building on the corner of Main and Pine Streets.

CANNING FACTORY IN THE 1920s

The former canning factory building was built in 1920 by a group of twenty farmers and it was in operation for around five years. E.O. Brookman and Frank Rhinehart were managers and there were four men and about ten women employed to prepare and can tomatoes, beans and some corn. Shipments were made to Alton and there were also local sales. F. R. Baker recalls that he and John-Schraudt helped in laying the concrete blocks and at that time Mr. Baker was Vice President of the organization. The building is now owned by Neisler Feed and Grain Company and houses the large trucks operated by the company.

The next three buildings house Montgomery County Vault Service. The first two were purchased from Titsworth and Hefley on February 1, 1951 by Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Randle. Mr. Randle died November 1, 1957 and Mrs. Randle continued with the business. These buildings were used for making and storing vaults until 1961, when she bought the main building to the right, which is used for an office with vault manufacturing and storage in the rear.

Mrs. Randle remarried and she and her husband, Allen Edwards operate a flourishing business, servicing Bond, Macoupin and Montgomery Counties. There are three trucks in operation.

At that time, managers were a Mr. Barnard, Cade Hamlin, Paul Zimmerman and Walter McLean and directors were Neal McLean, A.K. Vandever and William Morain.

The first Irving telephone operator was Bertha Borrer. Following were Mary Rucker, Susie Stafford, Mabel Stafford, Philena Borrer, Flora Lessman, Esther Schraudt, and Ruth Toberman, Night operators were Belle and Lucile Carriker, and Dora Draper.

In 1930 the Mutual Telephone Company was taken over by the Ill. Consolidated Telephone Company and in 1940 the dial system was installed. The present new building was completed in December, 1955.

In 1948, Mrs. M. L. Easterling, a nurse realized the need for a home for patients who not necessarily needed hospital care, yet were unable to live in their own homes. To meet this need, she and Rev. Easterling conceived the idea of building a home for this purpose. A building was erected, much of the work being done by the Rev. Easterling, then Pastor of the Irving Christian church.

This building was the newest facility of its kind in the County. When completed, the public was invited to a dedication service on July 3, 1949. The Rev. L. Hadaway, Pastor of the Hillsboro Christian Church conducted the service and the home was named Rest Haven Convalescent Home. Open house was then held.

The staff included Rev. and Mrs. Easterling, Edith Grantham, Eleanor Brown, Roberta Canaday, Ruth Bost Martin, Blanche King Witter, Almedia Howard, Renatha Franklin, Judith Gates, Nellie Golden, and Mildred Furness.

Mrs. John Bottomley, Nokomis and Mrs. Marvin Weller, Hillsboro entered the Home July 10, 1949, and were the first patients. Others entered each day until all beds were taken.

In 1950 three rooms were added, including a sunroom, these being built by the Rev. Easterling.

Rev. and Mrs. Lon Sefton purchased the Home in June, 1956, and are the present owners. They have added 4 rooms for patients, a hall, bathroom and utility room.

The home is now incorporated and has a capacity for thirty beds.

Each Sunday morning a religious service is conducted for the patients and Rev. Sefton and sometimes guest ministers officiate at these services.

Many ministers, priests, church groups, clubs and other organizations as well as individuals call on patients, bringing gifts of food, reading material and other useful items. They visit with the patients who always appreciate any attention shown them.

MI-EDD SHELTER CARE HOME

Mrs. Minnie Eddington for many years has opened her home to elderly people who were not bedfast. In 1961 she received a license for the MI-EDD Shelter Care Home, it being the first of its kind in Montgomery County. There are thirteen aged people who live in the Home.

Mrs. Eddington is assisted by Rena Bauer and Doris Taylor.

Early records state that the first Irving township school was in the southwest corner in 1829 and was taught by Mr. McIntire, age 70. Subscription schools were taught in deserted log cabins for $1.50 to $2.00 per pupil for a term of three months. The school day was usually ten hours long and the New Testament often served as the Reader.

Some of the early teachers included John Christian, Robert Franklin, James Jenkins and the latter's sister who taught a school in the Hopewell church. Wesley King taught a sixty day school in 1837 for $36.00 for the entire term.

In 1847 the first frame school was built and was later moved into the village to a site across the road from the present school. A Mr. Frink was the first teacher. Other teachers at this "little school" were Nancy Hanks, Lottie Vandever and Miss Ault. The brick school across the road was used for the upper grades.

Lottie Vandever taught forty-five years in the Irving school and she and Effie Cromer were first Irving High School graduates, class of 1889. E. Tackaberry was principal at that time. Mary Carrier Lipe was a member of the class of 1894 and the oldest Alumnus. C. Whitechurch was principal.

During the latter part of 1904 and early 1905, school was closed for a number of weeks because of a smallpox epidemic. Many were seriously ill and there were two deaths.

In the spring of 1906 the school building was razed and the first brick building was completed that fall. In January, 1925 this building burned and was replaced by the present building.

The Irving Parent-Teacher Association was organized about 1930. They sponsored the first Hot Lunch program, serving lunches for five cents each. Mrs. Gertrude Lindsey is the present cook and lunches are now twenty-five cents.

The present P.T.A. officers are James White, pres.; Mrs. Harold Byers, vice-pres.; Mrs. Walter Helfer, secretary; and Harry Wallace, treasurer.

Irving High School was discontinued in 1948 and in 54, the Irving school became a part of the Hillsboro Community Unit, District three. Since 1956 the seventh and eighth grades have attended school in Hillsboro.

The present enrollment is sixty-nine, teachers are Earl Roe (Principal), Everett Lewey, Dorothy Meisenheimer, and Betty Ehmann. J.T. McNew is janitor.

Ava Lyerla Wells taught in the High School longer than any other teacher and Ina File Botkin was the first principal of the six grades.

THE IRVING TIMES OF YESTERDAY

The first Irving Times building was on the corner near the present fire engine building and the weekly newspaper was started in the 1890s. The first editor was Sam Cottrell who later sold out to Clark Roberts and A. K. Vandever. Mr. Vandever bought Mr. Robert's interest and was assisted in editing the paper by his sons, Lester and Ed.

Among the editors of the paper were Rev. O.K. Doney, Jesse Sanders, C.L. Cockelreas, Arthur Bartlett, F. P. Williams, Lester Truitt, J.H. Carriker, and Ross Berry. Typesetters and other employees included Della Coffey, Mabel Truitt, C.A. Grantham, Lucile Carriker, Hazel Stewart, Floyd Weeks, Gertrude Bost, Eva Bond, and Kate Ault.

"Found! A Suitcase with clothing in it was found in C.C. Ault's cornfield. Owner call and pay charges and receive it. Mrs. C.C. Ault."

Later, Forrest Lingle joined the hardware store firm and it was enlarged, using the old Leon house as a salesroom and attaching a large implement shed. This was located where the Douglas Car lot now is.

The firm became Fowler and Byron, then Fowler and Cress and finally Fowler Hardware Company, when Ray Fowler worked with his father.

After Frank Fowler died in 1935, Ray managed the store until 1938 when the stock was sold to Kelly Mercantile Company.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

We, the committee, submit this book as a souvenir of Irving's Centennial.

Our sincere thanks to the printer, Robert Davis, for his work and the attractive cover, to all who bought space, to those who, because of their interest, furnished information, clippings, pictures, and gave of their time and effort.

This has enabled us to trace somewhat the pattern of change through the transition period of a century.
